OBJECTIVE

Opportunity to work for a company where I can apply and enhance my technological knowledge, share experiences, and reach the maximum of my potential. Participate in volunteer projects in the development of systems that can contribute in different areas where needed.

ABOUT ME

Since I started programming, I have explored various areas such as back-end, web scraping, data science, cloud computing, and containerization. After experiencing these different areas, I have chosen mobile development and front-end as my career path, with a keen interest in applied artificial intelligence.
